Football Hall of Fame

The National Football Shrine and Hall of Fame was organized in 1947 and has grown inspiringly and rapidly under the leadership of such men as Grantland Rice, Admiral William F. Halsey, and thousands of other devotees of America's great fall sport. Last September, Rutgers University was chosen as the site of the grid Shrine because Rutgers and Princeton played America's first intercollegiate game here, November 6, 1869.

The Hall of Fame is recognized by the United States Government as an educational institution. Its purpose is to erect a suitable Shrine, which will contain a Hall of Fame, a Bureau of Archives, History and Records, and a Football Library. It will preserve mementoes of football and disseminate the highest ideals of sportsmanship, honor, and fair play for the inspiration of American youth.

New Jersey and Rutgers, the State University, are greatly honored by the selection of this site for the Shrine to Football. Governor Alfred E. Driscoll has appointed a Hall of Fame Commission to aid in the establishment of the Shrine. Nearly 200 colleges and universities, plus thousands of football devotees, are members of the national organization.

The Rutgers-Brown game, November 4 in the Rutgers Stadium, has been designated by the Shrine Directors as the first intercollegiate Hall of Fame Game. A portion of the proceeds from the game and concessions will benefit the organization. The week prior to the game has been designated "New Jersey Football Week" throughout the State. Additional information on the Hall of Fame may be obtained from Arthur L. Evans, executive secretary of the National Football Shrine and Hall of Fame, Rutgers University.

The Rutgers Coaching Staff

Harvey J. Harman, Head Coach

SINCE he first came to the banks of the Old Raritan in 1938, Coach Harvey J. Harman has compiled one of the outstanding college coaching records in the nation. Now facing his ninth season at the helm of the Scarlet, he has piloted Rutgers elevens to an enviable record of 54 triumphs in 70 games.

Past president of the American Football Coaches Association, Harman has been associated with the gridiron sport since he was 13, first as a player and later as a coach and administrator. He started as a player at New Castle High School (Pa.) and later played fullback at Peabody High in Pittsburgh. He entered the University of Pittsburgh in 1918 and immediately won a starting berth at tackle under Glenn (Pop) Warner. He was out of the starting lineup only twice in four years at Pitt and won recognition on several All-American teams.

As an undergraduate, he won additional letters in track and was president of his junior and senior classes. Harman received his A.B. from Pitt in 1922 and began his career as coach at Haverford that fall. Meanwhile, he continued his studies at Penn until he earned his master's degree in government from that institution.

Harman remained at Haverford until 1930, when he became athletic director and coach of football and track at Sewanee, the University of the South. A year later he went to Penn, where he remained as coach of football until he resigned in December, 1937. His appointment at Rutgers followed.

His first season "On the Banks" won him a permanent place of honor in Rutgers football history when his gridders defeated Princeton in a famous 20 to 18 victory which dedicated the present Rutgers Stadium. It was the first Scarlet win over the Tigers since 1869. The only loss of his first season was to N.Y.U. and the following year his team lost only to Brown. Harman-coached elevens have won three of six games with Princeton, Rutgers' oldest grid rival and co-pioneer of intercollegiate football.

Following the outbreak of World War II, Harman laid aside his coaching togs and replaced them with Navy blue. Leaving Rutgers in the spring of 1942, he served as director of athletics at North Carolina Pre-Flight in Chapel Hill, was transferred to a similar post at Iowa Pre-Flight, and later saw combat duty in the Pacific aboard one of the Navy's largest carriers. He was a full commander at the time of his return to Rutgers late in 1945.

An active and popular figure in civic and religious affairs, Harman is deacon of the Second Reformed Church of New Brunswick. He is president of the Navy V-5 Association, and a member of Kiwanis, Phi Gamma Delta, Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Delta Kappa, and the University Club of Philadelphia. He has been an active supporter and organizer in the National Football Hall of Fame movement since its inception a few years ago.

Arthur A. Matsu, Backfield Coach

SENIOR member of the Rutgers coaching staff in tenure, Art Matsu has been in the department of athletics since 1931. He now holds the rank of associate professor in physical education. Matsu is in his seventh season as varsity backfield coach, an assignment he shares with Eddie Masavage. Art starred as a player at William and Mary in football, basketball, and track. After graduation he was freshman grid coach at his alma mater before coming to Rutgers in 1931. He was an assistant varsity coach of the Scarlet until 1936, coached the freshmen that season, and was back with the varsity in 1937. Matsu coached the freshmen again in 1938 then served two years as director of athletic publicity. He received his present varsity assignment in 1944.

Edward S. Masavage, Backfield Coach

WIRY Eddie Masavage has been associated with Harvey Harman almost continuously since 1931, first as a player, then as a coach, later in the Navy, and again as a member of the Rutgers coaching staff. Masavage played two years of varsity football under Harman at Penn. Upon his graduation in 1933, he joined Harman's staff as varsity backfield assistant and coach of Penn's 150-pound varsity. He came to Rutgers with Harman in 1938 and coached the backfield until he entered the Naval Reserve in 1942. Eddie was stationed with Harman at North Carolina Pre-Flight, then went to sea aboard the aircraft carrier Essex for 18 months. Following his discharge with the rank of lieutenant commander, he returned to Rutgers to team with Art Matsu as backfield coach of the Scarlet.

Alexander Sabo, Line Coach

ONE of Fordham's famed "Seven Blocks of Granite," Al Sabo is facing his eleventh season of coaching at Rutgers this fall. Sabo is a "home town" athlete from New Brunswick. He came to Rutgers as freshman line coach after his graduation from Fordham in 1936. He worked with the varsity the following season, returned to the freshmen in 1938, and became Harman's end coach in 1940. Like Harman and Masavage, Al entered the Naval Reserve in 1942. He rose to the rank of lieutenant commander while serving in French Morocco and returned to Rutgers in time for the 1946 season. Before the war, big Al was a professional baseball catcher with the Washington Senators from 1936-38. He still umpires minor-league baseball.

Albert W. Twitchell, Line Coach

RUTGERS football and lacrosse star of the Thirties, Al (Red) Twitchell is in his second season as a varsity coach, his third year as a member of the football staff. In 1948, he was line coach of the Scarlet's undefeated freshman team and coach of freshman lacrosse. This spring he succeeded Fred Fitch as head coach of Rutgers lacrosse. Twitchell began his coaching career at North Plainfield High School in 1935, following his graduation from Rutgers. He went to Sewanhaka High School on Long Island in 1937 as assistant football and lacrosse coach. Hofstra College lured him two years later and he served there as assistant football coach and director of intramural athletics. He returned to Sewanhaka as head coach of football and lacrosse, remaining until 1947. He came back to Rutgers that year as part-time physical education instructor, assistant coach of 150-pound football, and assistant lacrosse coach. He now holds the academic rank of associate professor of physical education.

Mike Stang, Trainer

John Powers, Custodian of Equipment

John R. Wittpenn, Senior Student Manager

Frank F. Hannoeh, Jr., Assistant Senior Manager

Richard L. Voliva, 150-Pound Varsity Coach

STAR in football, wrestling, and track at Indiana University, Dick Voliva coached those sports at Montclair Teachers College after competing in the 1936 Olympics. He was an Army major during the war. Since he came to Rutgers in 1945, he has been varsity wrestling coach and 150-pound coach for the past two years.

150-Pound Assistant Coaches

Alexander G. Sidar, Jr., Rutgers '44

Richard R. Cramer, Rutgers '49

Henry Benkert, Junior Varsity Coach

ONE of Rutgers' all-time grid greats, "Heinie" Benkert was the nation's leading scorer in 1924 and won All-American mention. After a number of years in pro football and high school coaching, he joined the Scarlet grid staff in 1941.

Otto H. Hill, Freshman Coach

CENTER on Harvey Harman's 1941 eleven, Otto Hill is starting his fourth season as a coach. After a stint in the Air Force, he returned to Rutgers in 1946. He won Rutgers letters in football and lacrosse and played service football. He coached the junior varsity in 1947 and 1948.

Frank R. Burns, Assistant Freshman Coach

A MODERN great in Rutgers football annals, Frankie Burns starred on four post-war Rutgers elevens before graduating in 1949. One of the nation's leading passers, he won All-Eastern honors in 1947 and 1948.

Rutgers Athletic Administration

George E. Little, Director of Athletics

A LEADING figure in athletics for more than 30 years, George Little has had a great record as player, coach, and administrator. In charge of Rutgers athletics since 1931, he was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan in 1912 after a brilliant football and track career. Starting his coaching career at Cincinnati, he went to Miami (Ohio) University in 1916. He left to serve overseas during World War I and returned as director of athletics. He went to Michigan in 1922, becoming head football coach in 1924. A year later, he was appointed director and head football coach at Wisconsin. He resigned as coach in 1927 to devote his full time to administration. Little remained at Wisconsin until he accepted his Rutgers position in 1931.

Harry J. Rockafeller, Associate Director of Athletics

REGARDED as one of the best known figures associated with Scarlet athletics, "Rocky" entered Rutgers in 1912. He starred in four years of football, basketball, baseball, and track. After serving in the war and in business for several years, he returned to Rutgers in 1924 as graduate manager. He was named head coach of football in 1927. In four years his teams won 19 and lost 16 games. In 1930, he resigned as coach in favor of administrative duties. In 1932, he became 150-pound varsity coach and his lightweight elevens were undefeated in 18 games, winning Eastern Intercollegiate titles in 1933, 1934, and 1935. He coached varsity football during World War II, compiling a record of 14 wins, 10 losses and one tie in four wartime years.

Scarlet Player Sketches

Ends

JOHN ARTHUR, sophomore. A fast-moving husky, Arthur is expected to add some needed height to the end department on offense. Good downfield blocker.

WILLIAM ARWAY, junior. Well-seasoned after a year of junior varsity ball, Arway should be ready this fall. He starred as a Woodbridge High School wingman.

HAROLD CORIZZI, junior. Great as a freshman, Corizzi should be starting at right end this fall. Extremely fast and evasive, he's a good receiver. Also a high-scoring basketball star. Played on the 1948 undefeated freshman team. A corps of veteran ends limited his action last year.

WILLIAM PELLINGTON, senior. A former guard and center, Bill's 220-pounds will anchor one end of the Scarlet line on defense this fall. He's speedy and a rugged tackler. He's from Ramsey.

RUSSELL SANDBLOM, sophomore. Outstanding end to come from last year's frosh squad, Russ is tabbed an offensive starter. He's fast and glue-fingered. He gets downfield in a hurry and is evasive.

RICHARD WACKAR, senior. Tallest of the end candidates at 6-3, Wackar shows promise on defense. Played end in 1945 and returned last year after a hitch in the Navy.

ROGER WILLIAMS, senior. For rugged, defensive play, they don't come any tougher than Williams. Despite injuries, he was named the "most improved player" in 1949. He won four football letters at Allentown, Pa., High School. Should have his best varsity year.

Tackles

HOWARD ANDERSON, sophomore. Another "lightweight" among the tackles, Howard weighs in at a well-conditioned 240. Bulwark of the 1949 freshman line, he'll be a good bet for a starting role on defense as a varsity performer.

BURTON ARNOLD, senior. One of the heaviest of a heavy tackle section, Burt has seen plenty of first-string action on both offense and defense. A former Linden High School star, Arnold is a Navy veteran. A great all-around performer.

WALTER FISHER, junior. Losing his youthful awkwardness last fall, Walt will be using his 215-pounds and 6-3 frame to best advantage this year. May win a starting assignment on offense. He's a former All-Philadelphia high school player.

JOHN LEZDEY, sophomore. Another promising graduate of last year's frosh team, Lezdey is a prime offensive tackle candidate. He hustles his 220 pounds around with the ease of a halfback. Expected to come along fast.

STANLEY MICHAELSON, senior. Just a "growing boy," Mike should tip 230-pounds by the season's opener. A Highland Park product, he saw limited action last fall but will rate first-string this year. A real scrapper.

MAHLON MORRISON, sophomore. A 220-pounder who can throw his weight into the right places on defense. He'll see plenty of action this fall.

JOSEPH SCALIOTTA, sophomore. Should team with Anderson as a pair of top-notch sophomore defensive tackles. He's rough, tough, and a whale of a tackler.

Guards

PETER BENDER, senior. A former jayvee player, Pete is a varsity wrestler and could be a valuable guard on offense this fall. He's fast and shifty.

CHARLES CARROLL, sophomore. A crack defensive bulwark with last year's frosh, this Kingston, Pa., lad will fill a niche handily this fall. A business student, he is president of his class.

RUDOLPH CELIGOI, sophomore. Most brilliant sophomore guard prospect, Rudy is equally strong on offense and defense but will see most action offensively. Good blocker. He moves out fast on the wide stuff.

ROMAN RUTKOWSKI, junior. Built along tank-like lines, Roman is slated for offensive action but can play a crashing defensive game. He saw plenty of combat last fall as a sophomore in the varsity lineup. A psychology student.

JOHN SCHUCK, junior. Should be the outstanding guard if he can shake off the effects of a severe leg injury suffered last season. Played both offense and defense as a sophomore but will probably start only on offense this fall. Johnny is studying ceramic engineering.

ROBERT TILLOTSON, sophomore. This 190-pounder from El Segundo, Cal., may be a key figure in the defensive alignment. He's big, fast, and keen in the skull department.

PIERRE VINET, senior. Converted from tackle this spring, "Pete" packs 200 solid pounds. A three-sports man at West High, Rockford, Ill., he provides the guard slots with added speed and power. At 24, he's the oldest squad member.

Centers

JOSEPH AMBROSE, sophomore. One of a pair of yearling pivotmen, Ambrose is the first choice to spell Root on offense. He anchored down center for last year's freshmen and is regarded as an above average performer by his coaches. A business student. He's from Hillside.

FRANK KOOS, senior. Lightest of the center candidates at 175, Frank puts a whale of a lot of heart into his line-backing chores. He's had two years experience with the Scarlet varsity and is a reliable veteran. A South River product, he studies ceramics.

LEON ROOT, senior. A great team player, Root is called "the greatest center I've ever seen" by Coach Harman. A brilliant pre-med student and president of the senior class, Leon is equally outstanding on offense and defense. He's a bruising line-backer and pass-defender. A strong All-American candidate. Played fullback as a freshman and sophomore but was converted last season. 1949 opponents voted Root the outstanding Rutgers lineman.

JAMES SCOTT, sophomore. A stringbean skyscraper, "Scotty" doesn't look 200 pounds until he crashes through that line. Looks like the answer to pass defense problems. An agriculture student. He's from Westfield.

Quarterbacks

JACK DENARDO, senior. A reserve last fall, Jack shaped up as a good defensive backfield product this spring. Rates as a good passer but may be more valuable on pass defense in the secondary.

DONALD DREIER, sophomore. Slightly smaller facsimile of LaPrarie, Dreier passes and runs well but lacks varsity experience. Was key T general for the frosh last year. He's from Baldwin, L. I. Throws well both long and short.

WALTER LA PRARIE, junior. Coming into his own as field general and passer in midseason last year, "Wally" will rank among the best in the East this fall. A Freeport, N. Y., product, LaPrarie is a good runner and confounds the defense with his diversified attack. Was leading ground-gainer last year and completed better than 50 per cent of his passes.

RAYMOND VOHDEN, junior. A slender wrestling and grid standout, Ray may share the passing chores with LaPrarie but will see considerably more action on defense. He's a business student from Springfield, N. J.

Left Halfbacks

BEN ANDERSON, sophomore. Another California lad from Yucaipa, Ben stepped off a lot of yardage as a freshman and should see plenty of action this season.

VICTOR ARCHAMBAULT, senior. A rugged 195-pounder, "Archy" is as fast as a scatback and as fancy-footed as they come. A leading scorer and ground-gainer, he averaged nearly eight yards per carry last year. He's from Lowell, Mass. He's a good downfield pass receiver.

ROBERT WYGANT, junior. A great schoolboy star from Albany, N. Y., Bob was sidelined by injuries last fall but worked back in shape in track this spring. Tallest of the left halfbacks at 6-1, he is plenty fast and a good receiver downfield.

ROBERT KAPLAN, sophomore. A schoolboy standout from Dover, Bob was impressive as a freshman and may hit his stride this season. He is especially strong on defense.

Right Halfbacks

ROBERT D'AMATO, junior. A scatback with plenty of deceptive power, Bobby was in and out last year but should be a first-string punch in 1950. A resident of Scotch Plains, he averaged about seven yards per try in 1949.

JOHN EMERY, sophomore. John stood out as an offensive quarterback with last fall's frosh eleven but his outstanding defensive work this spring produced a shift to a halfback slot. Speedy and capable, he'll see a lot of action as defensive safetyman.

JOSEPH FURNARI, senior. Overshadowed by more colorful performers in past seasons, Joe should be an all 'round ace-in-the-hole this fall. Fast and chunky, he can fill in at fullback and is equally strong on offense and defense. He's a Montclair product with plenty of experience.

RONALD WARNER, junior. A graduate of a strong frosh team and last year's junior varsity, Ron is the biggest and heaviest right half at 185—but he gives up nothing in speed. He's a Pittsburgh lad with plenty of promise.

Fullbacks

JAMES MONAHAN, junior. The Scarlet's power-punch-plus, "Little Mo" is a bone-crusher through the line, a breakaway runner on the outside, and can kick and pass as well. From West Haven, Conn., Monahan also is one of the heaviest hitters on the Scarlet's nationally ranking baseball nine.

HOWARD OTTLEY, junior. A solid six-footer, Howard saw most of his sophomore action as a line backer but will be called on for an added offensive charge and punting duties this fall. He's a business student from Union.

Producer of a New Orange

Floyd (Ben) Schwartzwalder brought the Orange back bouncing last year, his first season as head coach at Syracuse. After leading Muhlenberg to triumphs in 25 of 30 games in three years, he moved into the Salt City and raised a new and sturdy crop of Billy Oranges. Ben played center at West Virginia before his graduation in 1933. Before the war he was a highly successful high school coach. A paratrooper in Europe during the war, he was at Normandy, in the Battle of the Bulge, and over the Rhine. He was one of 25 survivors of an outfit of more than 250. A hard-fighting and aggressive competitor, he inspires his teams with his own qualities. On the gridiron, he uses variations of the winged-T offense and likes a fast, tricky attack, studded with plenty of passing.

Designer of Upsets, Caldwell

Charley Caldwell, Princeton's 15th head coach of football, is in his sixth season at Old Nassau. He starred in three sports as a Tiger undergraduate and played on Bill Roper's 1922 "team of destiny." He is the first coach in Nassau history to win three successive "Big Three" titles. Caldwell's record at Princeton includes at least one major upset every season (Cornell in '45, Penn in '46, "Big Three" crown in '47, Columbia in '48, and Brown and Dartmouth in '49). He was head coach at Williams from 1928-1944, before taking over the Bengals.

Crafty Kawal the Upsetter

Coach Al Kawal will be meeting the Scarlet for the second time in 1950. Last season, his first Temple eleven upset Rutgers and notched a good record against tough competition. A native of Chicago, Al was the first Big Ten athlete to captain both the football and basketball teams during his senior year at Northwestern. Former head coach at Drake, Kawal capped his last season with the Bulldogs by winning second place in the Missouri Valley Conference with seven wins in ten games, including a triumph over Arizona in the Salad Bowl. Before going to Drake, he was assistant coach at Michigan State and Boston University.

HISTORY OF RUTGERS—1766-1949

Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey, began as a struggling colonial college before the Revolution. Founded in 1766 by Dutch pioneers, Rutgers was originally called Queens College under a charter from King George III of England. The young college's existence was threatened by the Revolution, but growth followed that conflict, just as unprecedented expansion was experienced after the last World War.

Rutgers was given its present name in 1825, after generous gifts had been received from Colonel Henry Rutgers, a New York philanthropist. Forty years later it was designated the Land Grant College of New Jersey, the liberal arts course was enlarged, and courses leading to bachelor degrees in agriculture and engineering were added.

In 1902 a ceramics department was established. New Jersey College for Women, with its own New Brunswick campus, was founded in 1918; the School of Education added in 1923; and in 1925 the Extension Division for non-degree education and the School of Journalism were established. The College of Pharmacy was added in 1927. University College, degree-granting evening division, was established in 1934, and Newark University was merged with Rutgers in 1946. In 1945, the State Legislature brought all divisions of Rutgers within the designation of the State University of New Jersey.

Appointment of Hugh Devore as head coach at N.Y.U. is interpreted by many as signalling a rebirth of Violet football. A graduate of Notre Dame, Devore held previous coaching posts with the Fighting Irish, Fordham, Providence, and Holy Cross before his successful tenure at St. Bonaventure College. An All-American and co-captain during his senior year at Notre Dame, Devore started his football career at St. Benedict's Prep in Newark, his home town. He will use a straight T with the Violet and run a limited two-platoon system.

Optimistic View from the New Head Bruin

Replacing Rip Engle as head coach at Brown, Gus Zitrides is looking for a good season, despite a rugged schedule of opponents. An outstanding guard at Dartmouth, he drew several All-American mentions in 1937. Zitrides spent some time coaching at Cornell before serving in the Navy during the war. He's responsible for those tremendous Brown lines which have been the prime mover of the Bruins since the war.

THE SCARLET'S HOME GROUNDS

Rutgers Stadium is the heart of a million-dollar athletic plant situated on the University Heights campus. The Stadium area embraces 270 acres of gently rolling hills. Facilities include a nine-hole golf course, several baseball diamonds, six playing fields, and two practice gridirons.

The Stadium seats 23,000. The field is of turtle-back construction and is surrounded by a track modeled after the Los Angeles Olympic oval. One of the nation's best tracks, it has eight lanes on the curves and backstretch, with a 12-lane, 220-yard straightaway.

Stands are of reinforced concrete with wooden seats. A modern field house runs the length of the East stands and contains dressing rooms and offices. A well-equipped press box crowns the West stands, providing for more than 100 writers with telegraph and telephone service. Both ends of the press box have glass enclosed broadcasting booths, topped by photographers' platforms.

Facing his second season as head coach at Lafayette after two years in pro coaching, Maurice (Clipper) Smith is counting on offensive-minded football to offset last season's dismal results. A Knute Rockne product at Notre Dame, Clipper turned out several undefeated teams during his seven years as coach at Villanova. He held other coaching posts at Santa Clara, Gonzaga, and San Francisco.

Rip, the Animal Trainer

Leaving the lair of the Brown Bear, Charles A. (Rip) Engle is cracking his coaching whip this fall in the den of the Nittany Lions. Engle is a Dick Harlow product of Western Maryland and gave Brown some of its toughest football combines in years. After graduation from college, Rip spent ten years in high school coaching then went to Brown as an assistant coach in 1942. Taking over the head coaching reins in 1944, he piled up an enviable record as chief Bruin. A technician among coaches, he is installing his winged-T at State College this year, replacing the Lions' single-wing attack.

Fireworks by Bixler

Facing his fourth season at the helm of Colgate's Red Raiders, Paul Bixler has gained a reputation for wide-open, explosive football. A former coach at Ohio State, Bixler started his coaching with the Buckeyes after his graduation from Mount Union in 1929. Following another stint at Akron University as coach in football and basketball, he came to Colgate in assistant coaching capacities in 1939. Switching back to Ohio State in 1941, he became head coach in 1945. His material at Colgate has been sparse during the past few seasons but his fire-eating elevens have plenty of proven scoring-potential on any Saturday afternoon.

Rutgers Football Facts

Rutgers Color—Scarlet.

Rutgers Nicknames—The Scarlet, The Queensmen.

Rutgers All-Americans—Rutgers has produced two first-team All-Americans during its 81 years of intercollegiate football, Paul Robeson and Homer Hazel. Robeson, one of the greatest of all Negro athletes, was named at end by Walter Camp in 1918. Hazel won similar fame at end in 1923 and again as fullback in 1924. In selecting Hazel, Camp said: "Hazel would be All-American at any position." Mentioned widely as a 1950 All-American candidate, Rutgers' present center, Leon Root, would be the third Queensman to win football's highest honors.

Best Rutgers Record—The Scarlet of 1947, coached by Harvey Harman, won eight of its nine games, losing only the opener to Columbia.

Worst Rutgers Record—The 1901 team lost all seven games played that season.

Longest Rutgers Winning Streak—The longest unbroken string of Rutgers victories began after the 25-6 defeat by N.Y.U. in mid-season of 1938. Five straight triumphs followed, and in 1939, the unblemished string was extended to 13 before Brown toppled the Scarlet in the season's finale, 13-0. The record includes a scoreless tie with Richmond in 1939.

Oldest Rutgers Rival—Rutgers' oldest football rivalry is with Princeton, dating back to America's first intercollegiate football game in 1869. Football relations were inaugurated with Columbia the following year. Rutgers has met Lehigh more than any other rival. With 48 games in the series, Rutgers holds an edge over the Engineers with 27 victories, 20 losses, and one tie. Lafayette and Rutgers have met on 45 occasions, Lafayette winning 26, losing 18, and tying one.

Largest Man of the 1950 Squad—Sophomore Tackle Howard Anderson cops the blue ribbon in the weight division. He tips the scales at a neat 240 pounds—when in playing condition. He's six-feet, four-inches tall and comes from Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Rutgers Captain—Game captains are elected by the team prior to each game. At the end of the season, the squad elects an honorary captain. Earl Read, All-North guard, was accorded this honor in 1949. Game captains are usually seniors but Leon Root was elected captain for the 1949 Princeton game, while he was still a junior.

Rutgers Mascot—The team's mascot is an Irish Setter, named Big Red, which was presented to the squad two years ago by the Touchdown Club of New Brunswick.

Rutgers Training Camp—Rutgers annually spends three weeks of pre-season training at the New Jersey National Guard Camp at Sea Girt, on the Jersey shore.

Rutgers Football Office—Located off the left side of the foyer on the ground floor of the Rutgers Gymnasium on College Avenue in New Brunswick.

Football Hall of Fame Office—The temporary headquarters of Arthur L. Evans, executive secretary of the National Football Shrine and Hall of Fame, are located on the College Park campus of Rutgers University. Office telephone number is CHarter 7-1766, Ext. 420.
